2 MR. IRVINE: We have plenty of room at the 3 table since our quorum has not shown up. And since we do 4 not have a quorum, this is not an official meeting. We 5 cannot and will not take any action, but we'll provide 6 updates and discuss stuff and if we get out here a little 7 bit early.

8 So first of all, Kelly would you like to kick
9 us off with an update on what's going on in the Academy 10 and --

11 MS. OPOT: Sure, I'd love to.

12 So we finished off the -- oh look, here comes 13 everybody.

15 MR. IRVINE: Okay.

16 MS. OPOT: So this is Kelly Opot with CSH.
17 And I have been working with the Council on the HSP
18 Academy and wanted to give you an update of what we did 19 last year and then we've renewed our contract to provide 20 more training and technical assistance this year.

21 And so part of our contracts last year was to 22 do an evaluation of the work that we've done through the 23 Training and the Technical Assistance Program. And just 24 as a reminder, we had nine teams from across the state 25 who came to the HSP Academy for a day and a half in

1 February of this year. And then each team was able to 2 access onsite and remote technical assistance from CSH to 3 really help them implement and think through ideas of the 4 plan that they began when they were at the HSP Academy.

5 So it was really working with communities 6 trying to help them understand how to get more service in 7 each housing and what kind of strategies they could use.
8 So it ranged widely on what people decided to do, who 9 they decided to target, and how they decided to implement 10 some of their planning.

11 But overall it was really successful, and both 12 from the impact that some of the teams had but also the 13 evaluation and how they received the technical 14 assistance. So very positive overall outcomes, and we're 15 really pleased with what came out of that.

16 So we created an evaluation report, which I
17 believe is in each of your packets that you can peruse, 18 but just wanted to give a couple of high-level highlights 19 from some of that, including the work that we did, you 20 know, some of it was -- and we talked about this a little 21 bit throughout the year, but some of it was working with 22 our Dallas team to help submit comments to their new 23 Affordable Housing Plan that the City Council is putting 24 together, which is supposed to come out any day now.

25 Also helping some of the teams come up with

1 strategies for how they could create a preference for 2 service-enriched housing. And there was one team that 3 actually should have a development coming online in 4 Coleman in the next couple of years, so really helping 5 them think about the financing structure that they wanted 6 to put together and what they could pull together for 7 services and really helping them think through that 8 actual development process.

9 And so overall, as I said, really positive 10 along the -- that we met the objectives that we were 11 trying to achieve through the evaluation and that our 12 overall performance measures around technical assistance
13 were high, averages scores in the 3s and 4s out of 4. So 14 like I said, really positive.

15 Everybody felt really happy with the work that 16 we did, but we also went back to them and said, you know, 17 what were some things that you would like to see next 18 year? What are some -- what did we miss? What could we 19 do to improve this? And so used some of that information
20 to help develop the Training and Technical Assistance
21 Program for this year.

22 Another thing that we measured were these 23 indicators of change. So part of the evaluation, it's a 24 really short time period to be able to do an evaluation.
25 We'd only worked with them for about seven months, and so

1 we're not going to see long-term outcomes necessarily yet 2 with, you know, units on the ground or something like 3 that, or true behavior change within a community, but we 4 can see the steps of that coming together.

5           And so part of our -- you know, everybody put 6 together a plan, which it was our big goal, but some of 7 the communities implemented policy changes that will help 8 them create more service-enriched housing. Others are 9 creating special projects, so that includes Corpus 10 Christi and Central Texas. And then some of them also 11 put together a group; they've maintained a group 12 together. So they continue to meet and they're working 13 together to try to continue to implement their plan and 14 really put together some strategies for that.

15           And just to pull out one of the quotes, you 16 know, one of my favorite ones -- and I think I said this 17 the last time I presented. The Alamo area group, which 18 is San Antonio, started a training series which they have 19 continued and they've -- you know, I get regular 20 notifications of it. And it's all about service-enriched
21 housing.

22           The Corpus Christi group really helped support
23 a big conference that they had there that was built off
24 of the first academy. You know, these were big events 25 that were coming together, but one of the quotes from the

1 Alamo area group was, The training helped us improve 2 knowledge about the need for affordable housing in our 3 city and directly led to the creation of important 4 partnerships that will help us achieve this goal.

5 Like the conversations now between local 6 developers and banks is real and new and really exciting.
7 So you know, they're really feeling some momentum in a 8 lot of these areas.

9 So thinking about this year and what we've 10 proposed and where we're going with our work, what we 11 heard from a lot of people is we'd really like some 12 deeper dives into the training, really more technical 13 assistance around development and really understanding 14 how we do development a little bit better including 15 financing and how you put deals together. And that's 16 something that CSH has some expertise in, so we've heard 17 that and said we can help you with that.

18 But also wanting to think about how you can do 19 more landlord engagement with existing units. So how we 20 can go out and find units on the ground, because as we 21 all know, development takes a while and it can be 22 challenging, especially if you're a new developer.

23 So you know, beyond just teaching about 24 partnerships, we're saying this is how you can go in and 25 approach landlords with all of the resources that you

1 have. So we've developed two distinct tracts for -- the 2 groups invited everyone who was a member of the Academy
3 teams last year to participate. So there were nine teams
4 last year. There will be five this year. Five.

5 (General laughter.)

6 MS. OPOT: I thought there were -- five this 7 year that will be participating. And they will all have 8 access to three webinars around either of those tracts, 9 so the landlord engagement or development or they could 10 do all of them if they wanted to.

11 But we also decided to add in there something 12 that's called an all-access pass through CSH. So CSH has 13 an online training center that has a variety of trainings 14 that you can access at any time with an all-access pass.

15 So we're using some of those resources to 16 provide an all-access pass to each of the team members 17 and someone on their staff, but also to all of the 18 Council members as well. So you'll all be able to 19 participate and go in and use that resource as part of 20 this Academy training.

21 And then we decided to put together some 22 availability for remote and onsite technical assistance, 23 but being a little bit more specific about it this time
24 around based on what we learned from last time. So a lot 25 of things that people wanted were specific trainings in

1 their communities. So we had the flexibility to do
2 trainings and work with teams to develop trainings.

3 Also in some of our virtual technical 4 assistance, we'll be able to do things like create 5 products, create outreach materials, really help people 6 think about how they can get the word out both about 7 their groups or if there's specific projects that they 8 want to do so a little bit more flexibility about how, 9 you know, we can support these groups in implementing 10 their plans and you know, supporting their creative 11 ideas.

12 There will also be an online learning
13 collaborative as part of this. And so through the 14 training center that will be providing all of the 15 webinars but also the all-access pass, everyone that's 16 part of the team will be in part of this learning 17 collaborative where we can go and share resources and 18 hopefully some of the Council members will go in there 19 and share the resources that they have and expertise for 20 all of the work that they're doing.

21 That starts this month. And so we'll be 22 sending out emails to everyone this week. And before I
23 leave, I'd love to get all the Council members' addresses 24 so that we can make sure to add them to all the all-25 access pass work, but would love to hear questions or

1 comments from any of you about how we're moving forward 2 next year if you have any.

3 MR. IRVINE: You said one thing that kind of 4 triggered an idea.

5 MS. OPOT: Uh-huh.

6 MR. IRVINE: You talked about reaching out 7 more to landlords.

8 MS. OPOT: Uh-huh.

9 MR. IRVINE: And, you know, we have in our 10 portfolio a little over a quarter of a million existing 11 units.

12 MS. OPOT: Right.

13 MR. IRVINE: And, you know, over a series of 14 many, many years, they all have LURAs that reflect the 15 particular services and amenities that they're going to 16 offer that it would be really nice if older existing 17 properties could --

18 MS. OPOT: Uh-huh.

19 MR. IRVINE: -- somehow or another have a 20 streamlined way that they could be brought more fully 21 into the service-enriched housing world.

22 MS. OPOT: Okay.

23 MR. IRVINE: We might kind of tinker with 24 that --

25 MS. OPOT: Yeah.

1 MR. IRVINE: -- on our side to see if 2 something like that could be created.

3 MS. OPOT: That's a great idea.

4 MR. IRVINE: I mean I'm not knocking the 5 services that they do provide, but some of them are more 6 meaningful than other.

7 MS. OPOT: Uh-huh.

8 MR. IRVINE: And it would be nice if there was 9 just a simple way that they could say, We want to agree 10 to provide service-enriched housing that involves these 11 components, these partners, these attributes.

12 MS. OPOT: Right.

13 MR. IRVINE: Boom, approve it.

14 MS. OPOT: Yeah. No, I think that's a -- Terri
15 and I can work on how we put that together.

16 One of the other webinars that, you know, we 17 want to -- what we heard so much of from our teams last 18 year was 811, 811, 811. We want to know more about 811.
19 Tell us more about 811. So Spencer and I will be talking 20 about that.

21 And I know there's some changes coming through 22 the QAP with 811, so really trying to help everybody 23 understand what's happening with 811, how they can access 24 811. There was really some interest from the local 25 communities and either becoming an 811 community or

1 hosting some sort of event where they could recruit 2 landlords to participate in 811.

3 So I think that's how we might go with some of 4 our in-person technical assistance for those groups --

5 MR. IRVINE: Uh-huh.

6 MS. OPOT: -- that are looking specifically --

7 MR. IRVINE: Yeah, I see.

8 MS. OPOT: -- for people and sitting 9 institutions. And so I'm hoping that we can really 10 provide a lot of information on 811 through this process 11 and help them feel like experts in it.

12 MR. IRVINE: That would be awesome.

13 MS. OPOT: Yeah.

14 MR. WILT: Another --

15 MR. IRVINE: More events, more choice.

16 MS. OPOT: Yeah.

17 MR. WILT: Sorry, Tom. Another question about 18 landlord engagement, are you encouraging people to find 19 landlords that are at properties with expiring rental 20 agreements or at market rate Class C, Class D stock?

21 MS. OPOT: All of the above. I mean a lot of 22 times it's market rate Class C, but also we've looked 23 into -- some of the work that we've done around that is 24 expiring rental agreements as well.

25 So it's looking for those opportunities where

1 it's either maybe there's an expiring credit on there or 2 some Class C properties or, you know, kind of other 3 affordable properties where we could go and either with a 4 partnership with the Housing Authority or something like 5 that to provide housing in those.

6 But yeah, we know. Ideally I would prefer 7 higher level apartments but that's been a challenge in 8 cities across the state, so both.

9 MS. RICHARD: Don't you have a training that's 10 coming up that's related to Medicaid and housing?
11 What's -- I just got some of those announcements.

12 MS. OPOT: Yeah. And so that's a separate -- 13 something through the training center. Another thing that 14 our training center at CSH is offering is something called 15 a Medicaid Academy. So that's probably what you're 16 talking about.

17 MS. RICHARD: Yeah.

18 MS. OPOT: But we also have some separate 19 trainings around how you can participate in Medicaid, and 20 those that are logged onto our training center website 21 will be part of the all-access pass. So some of --

22 MS. RICHARD: Okay. So they will be able to 23 access that?

24 MS. OPOT: Some of them will be.

25 MS. RICHARD: Okay.

1 MS. OPOT: The larger Medicaid Academy is a 2 whole series of trainings that help organizations who are 3 thinking about becoming Medicaid billers --

4 MS. RICHARD: Okay.

5 MS. OPOT: -- teach them that, you know, giving 6 them an overview of what it means to bill Medicaid and the 7 process with Medicaid, and then this is the team you'd 8 have to be put together and this is how you put a business 9 plan together and all of those things.

10 MS. RICHARD: Okay, thanks. Thanks for that 11 clarification.

12 MS. OPOT: And we do have some communities in 13 Texas that will be participating in that. I'm trying to 14 think; I don't think any of them are part of our HSP 15 teams.

16 MS. RICHARD: Okay. Thanks, Kelly.

17 MR. IRVINE: Questions, comments?

18 (No response.)

19 MR. IRVINE: Okay. Andrew, come on up to the 20 table. Andrew Sinnott, Drew, oversees our Multifamily 21 Loan Programs, HOME, TCAP Loan Repayment, and most 22 recently, National Housing Trust Fund.

23 MR. SINNOTT: Tim's right. So I'm here today
24 to talk about National Housing Trust Fund. Since it's a 25 new program that we're going to be administering, I guess

1 we've already started administering it and drafting the 2 allocation plan. But next year we're actually going to 3 make the funds available through a NOFA for the first time
4 with our inaugural allocation of National Housing Trust 5 Fund.

6 So a broad overview of National Housing Trust 7 Fund, it's a formula grant from HUD to be administered by 8 states. Texas is receiving approximately $4.8 million.
9 It's intended to increase and preserve the supply of 10 affordable housing for extremely low income households, 11 and that's a 30 percent AMI or below.

12 It comes with a minimum 30-year affordability 13 period. Funds can be awarded as grants, loans, and 14 operating cost assistance. And beyond the income 15 targeting requirement and minimum affordability period, 16 it's very similar to our HOME funds. So if any of you are 17 familiar with HOME funds, it's very similar to that save 18 for the 30 percent AMI targeting requirement.

19 It has the same commitment expenditure
20 deadlines, Davis-Bacon, environmental clearance, Uniform
21 Relocation Act, all the same cross-cutting requirements.

22 To give you a timeline of this program, it's a 23 program that was established under the Housing and 24 Economic Recovery Act of 2008. In 2009, funding for NHTF, 25 which is a small percentage of new business purchases from

1 Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, was suspended because of 2 concerns about these two entities' financial solvency.

3 So we've gone several years now that it's been 4 in existence but that it hasn't been funded. In December 5 of 2014, the suspension on those, the funding for NHTF was 6 lifted. So 2015 was the first calendar year in which we 7 started to accumulate funds for National Housing Trust 8 Fund. Also in 2015, the Interim Rule was established in 9 preparation for the grants to the states in 2016.

10 Moving forward to this year, this past spring, 11 TDHCA staff held roundtables in Houston and Austin. In 12 July we presented a draft allocation plan for National 13 Housing Trust Fund to TDHCA's Board, which included the 14 Amended 2016 One-Year Action Plan and Amended 2015 to 2019
15 Consolidated Plan. Those are two documents that we have 16 to submit to HUD throughout the five-year that we have for 17 con plan and every year for the one-year action plan.

18 After the Board meeting, we received public
19 comment on the proposed allocation plan and held a public 20 hearing. Last month we presented the final version of the 21 allocation plan to the TDHCA Board. After the Board 22 meeting, we submitted the allocation plan and accompanying 23 documents to HUD. We're hoping to hear back from HUD 24 within the next couple of months regarding acceptance of 25 the allocation plan and the issuance of our first grant

1 agreement for National Housing Trust Fund.

2 Also last month we held a roundtable at TDHCA
3 on the proposed Multifamily Direct Loan Rule. And I have 4 a copy here of the proposed rule which will govern not 5 only National Housing Trust Fund but also, as Tim 6 mentioned, our HOME Program -- and you can just pass these 7 around the table -- our HOME Program that we use for 8 multifamily developments and TCAP loan repayments.

9 Last week we presented the draft, that draft
10 rule, to TDHCA's Board for publication in the Texas
11 Register. The rule will be published in the Texas 12 Register October 28, and public comment will be accepted
13 through November 28.

14 Staff plans on bringing the final version of 15 the rule to our December Board meeting and the NOFA 16 publication soon thereafter for applications to be 17 accepted starting in January.

18 And the part of that rule that you have there
19 that's specific to National Housing Trust Fund -- I mean 20 all of it is going to govern the program, but there's one 21 section in there in the set-aside section where we discuss 22 the National Housing Trust Fund and what types of 23 developments National Housing Trust Funds can be used for.

24 So on the set-aside section on page 4, you'll 25 see there's a supportive housing soft repayment set-aside.

1 And that's going to -- that's what we're proposing 2 dictates the use of National Housing Trust Fund in a very 3 basic sense.

4 So you can either be supportive housing or you
5 can be just a general development with no supportive 6 housing specific services or anything. But you will have 7 to have 30 percent AMI units that are not layered with any 8 other funding sources from the Department, whether they be 9 tax credits, HOME, or project-based vouchers or tenant-10 based vouchers.

11 So that's kind of an overview on National 12 Housing Trust Fund. And yeah, I'd encourage all of you to 13 take a look at this draft rule, and like I said, we'll be 14 accepting public comment October 28 through November 28.

15 MR. IRVINE: One thing I would like to just 16 point out, you know, any time you've got a new funding 17 source, it poses both opportunities and challenges. And 18 historically, TDHCA has been very measured in the way that 19 it stands up new programs and tries to keep them fairly 20 simple, fairly focused.

21 The National Housing Trust Fund is a little bit 22 different from more stable established funding sources in 23 that it's not a fully predictable ongoing stream. It's, 24 you know, tied to the success or failure of the GSEs. So 25 you know, we're trying to move into this in a very 1 measured, careful way.

2           There are, under the federal statute, a lot 3 more possibilities than the possibilities that we're 4 specifically pursuing, and maybe as the fund grows and as 5 it becomes a more stable organized source of activity, you 6 know, we can look at layering on some other approaches.
7 But for right now we think that, you know, fitting it into 8 this particular approach is the most efficient and 9 effective way to do it.

10           You know, we obviously want to minimize the 11 administrative overhead and maximize the programmatic 12 impact, and this is the way to do it.

13           MR. SINNOTT: Right. And given the funding 14 level that it's at right now, it's at, like I said, it's 15 4.8 million total, 4.3 once you take out the 10 percent
16 admin. We have the opportunity to do single-family 17 housing with this as well, but we're not going to get into 18 that with this initial allocation of the National Housing 19 Trust Fund.

20           We're going to focus solely on rental housing 21 and then, you know, we'll see if, like Tim says, it does 22 become more established. The funding levels increase, we 23 may start to rethink and readjust how we implement the 24 program.

25           MR. SANTOS: So these funds can be used for

1 developers to --

2 MR. SINNOTT: Right.

3 MR. SANTOS: -- make rental housing?

4 MR. SINNOTT: Correct. Yeah. All the 5 programs, HOME, TCAP, Loan Repayments, and National 6 Housing Trust Fund, are awards that we make to developers 7 to develop or rehabilitate affordable housing.

8 MR. IRVINE: Yeah. Just for background,
9 because we got some new folks in here that may be not 10 steeped in affordable housing finance.

11 Basically when we finance the development of an 12 affordable development, you know, it's got a cash flow.
13 It's got to cover its obligations, its operating 14 obligations, its maintenance obligations, its compliance 15 obligations, and all of those things. And it's got 16 depending on the levels of incomes that it's going to be 17 serving capped rents.

18 The rents at extremely low incomes are 19 obviously much lower than the rents at, say, 60 percent 20 AMI. So on a cash flow basis, 60 percent, 50 percent, 21 right in there's kind of the sweet spot for where you are 22 charging rents. It should more or less cover costs of 23 operation. When you get into those deeper rent levels, it 24 really does require a subsidy.

25 And that's where the National Housing Trust

1 Fund really does come in through the soft financing
2 method. It's a way that we can essentially take a cash
3 flow burden off of a development so that it can serve 4 extremely low income households.

5 MR. SINNOTT: Great.

6 MR. IRVINE: Okay.

7 MR. SINNOTT: Any questions?

8 (No response.)

9 MR. SINNOTT: Okay.

10 MR. IRVINE: Spencer, Bill, you guys want to 11 come talk about 811?

12 MR. DURAN: Yeah, talk about 811. My name is 13 Spencer Duran. I'm the manager of the Section 811 14 Program. And Bill Cranor's also here, and he is the 15 program coordinator for the 811 Program. And his role is 16 essentially to facilitate the communication between the 17 local referring agents that we call them, those that are 18 doing outreach and identify potentially qualified 19 households and they're connecting them with the portfolio 20 of participating properties.

21 It's been a great start and a great couple of 22 weeks for our program. We have our first move-in that 23 occurred here in Austin, and that's at Trails of the Park.
24 It's a Foundation Communities-owned property. We also had 25 our second move-in that occurred, and that was in Dallas.

1 And so we're really, really excited about that huge step 2 forward.

3 So we've really gone from, you know, planning 4 and property recruitment and the training we conducted to 5 having an actual live program. We should also have some 6 more move-ins coming up and also in Dallas and then also 7 our first move-ins in Houston. So we're getting a, you 8 know, pretty good geographic area and you know, the big 9 cities of Texas.

10 That probably it makes a lot of sense that it
11 would happen that way. But we have trained over 50 12 organizations all around the state, and we -- our program 13 itself has a good geographic dispersion. You know, we're 14 now operating in eight MSAs across the state. So I think 15 that we're off to a pretty good start.

16 You know, as everyone knows and we're all fully 17 aware, it was kind of a slow start, but you know, we were 18 only in the Qualified Allocation Plan in the 2015 cycle.
19 So in that respect, we're just kind of following, you 20 know, that progression as the existing properties that we 21 got in the portfolio from that cycle have been trained and 22 understand all of their obligations and how to do the 23 vouchering system.

24 So all eight of our existing properties have 25 been trained, and their waiting lists are open. And we're

1 doing as much technical assistance as we can to the local 2 organizations that are making referrals to those 3 properties.

4 Also from the 2015 multifamily cycle, we got 10 5 existing new construction properties that elected to 6 participate in 811. So from the 2015 cycle we have eight 7 existing properties, 10 new construction properties that 8 are contributing a total of 192 units.

9 And so as those new construction properties get 10 close to being physically constructed, we're doing -- 11 we're kind of starting the clock all over again with what 12 we did with the existing properties, which is create 13 marketing materials, work with our Health and Human 14 Services partners, work with our local partners to just 15 make sure that everyone is aware of the new opportunity 16 that's out there, because the great thing about new 17 construction is you have a date certain move-in.

18 So we're trying to give ourselves plenty of 19 time to conduct outreach and marketing, get people on what 20 I guess would be kind of an interest list. While they're 21 waiting for the property to be constructed, they're not, 22 you know, waiting for a turnover; they're waiting for it 23 to be physically constructed.

24 So we have, you know, more than 10 hopefully 25 qualified households that are ready to occupy those 10

1 units so that our owner partners have, you know, some 2 lease-up and everything goes really smoothly and we can 3 get that initial occupancy.

4 So that's kind of what we've been doing with 5 the 2015 cycle. Looking at the most -- the recent 2016 6 funding cycle that we just completed, we got approximately 7 21 properties. And I say approximately because there is 8 one that was a conditional award, and I haven't touched 9 base with our multifamily colleagues about exactly if the 10 commitment notice has been sent out yet, if they're, you 11 know -- but about 21 properties.

12 And of those, two are going to be either giving 13 us previous existing units -- so two of us are giving us 14 previous existing units and then two are giving us current 15 existing units. So we essentially are going to end up 16 with about maybe 18 new construction properties and two 17 existing properties that we didn't have previously.

18 So this -- the 2016 cycle's going to be a much, 19 you know, longer tail for a lease-up because they're not 20 going to be physically constructed, you know, before the 21 end of calendar year 2016. So you know, we're pretty 22 excited about, you know, how many properties we've been 23 able to bring to the table.

24 So now it's just a matter of making sure our 25 local service providers and service coordinators are

1 trained and that our properties are trained and everybody
2 has a good understanding of the program.

3 We're also really excited. We've gotten 27
4 referrals to the program. You know, I think that we don't 5 have -- I would like to have, you know, more referrals 6 than units so that we could increase our chances of having 7 qualified households on the waiting list whenever a 8 vacancy occurs.

9 But we think that with our new -- we have kind 10 of a new marketing push. Bill put together some really 11 nice marketing materials. We've gotten a lot of support 12 from our Health and Human Services partners to have 13 contacts with those local organizations. And you know, 14 because of those recent efforts, we've seen a spike in the 15 number of referrals that we've been getting, so we think 16 that, you know, we're going to keep on getting more and 17 more referrals.

18 And especially as people have seen results from 19 the program, you know, we have, you know, households that 20 are moving into units. And so that, you know, hopefully 21 around the state people will see that success, and it'll 22 just kind of keep building and building on itself.

23 That's just really it. The big headline, we 24 have our first move-ins, and we have more to come. So I 25 can answer any questions y'all have.

1 MR. GOODWIN: I just got a couple. My personal 2 opinion is there's some owners out there that ain't very 3 smart, because this cracks your nut on vacancies. It 4 really does.

5 What is your available unit inventory? And I 6 don't mean they're ready today, but your inventory that 7 you can fill, as opposed to your inventory of clients.

8 MR. SINNOTT: So we have 27 applicants, so I'd 9 say maybe 20 of those are on the waiting list. And you 10 know, we have 92 potential units that are available, so 11 there's kind of a gap there. But those 92 units aren't 12 physically -- you know, they're not vacant currently.
13 We're waiting in general for natural turnover to occur on 14 those existing properties.

15 VOICE: And they're not necessarily in the 16 cities where the individuals are.

17 MR. GOODWIN: That was the next question.

18 MR. SINNOTT: Yes. Matching units and --

19 MR. GOODWIN: You also have a geographic issue
20 that I've got 20 applicants on the waiting list in Austin
21 and I've got 50 units available in Arlington.

22 MR. SINNOTT: That's exactly the scenario we 23 have.

24 MR. GOODWIN: Okay.

25 MR. SINNOTT: So for example, we have, you

1 know, over 10 people that are on the waiting list for our 2 Austin property, but we have actual vacant units in our 3 San Elizario properties, which are in, you know, the 4 outskirts of El Paso.

5 So exactly. And we wanted to create -- we 6 wanted to bring in as many properties as we could, so we 7 didn't -- on the front end we did not want to be deciding 8 that the property types to bring to the program. We 9 wanted to cast a really widened net and then let the 10 individual households kind of vote with their feet about 11 what properties they want to live in.

12 And so you know, in San Elizario, there's not 13 as many community amenities. There's not as much, you 14 know, public transportation, sidewalks. The properties
15 themselves that we've recruited, we have a pretty high bar 16 for if you want to contribute an existing property.

17 You can't just give us your lowest performing 18 property in your portfolio. You know, we have a vacancy
19 rate that you'd have to hit. You have to have good 20 physical inspection scores. You have to have pretty good 21 transit proximity and things like that.

22 But there is still kind of a mismatch of 23 available units and need. And we may end up, you know, 24 seeing that these qualified applicants are just simply not 25 choosing some of our properties, and that's okay.

1 MS. BOSTON: One of the dynamics of the 2 program -- and y'all may have talked about this before.
3 I'm Brooke Boston, and I'm one of the deputies at the 4 Agency. And the Housing Resource Center, which of course 5 organizes the Council for you guys, is newly assigned to 6 be under me.

7 But 811 has been under me for a long time, so I 8 would say one of the dynamics of the program is that when 9 we get the properties to come into the program, we're 10 doing that through QAP primarily. And now going forward, 11 it'll be through a threshold item. But when we do that, 12 we aren't requiring they immediately sign the federal 13 documents that make them a federally held program.

14 And so if, in fact, let's say we have some 15 properties who come into the program and we're excited and 16 we market it, but no tenant ever asks to go there, we may 17 never ask that property to execute the actual federal 18 documents. So they wouldn't be triggered to have to do 19 like some of the additional requirements.

20 MR. DURAN: But we did sign a contract with 21 them after they didn't get their awards. It's called the 22 Owner Participation Agreement. So any time over the next 23 30 years, let's say a new transit line is built or 24 something, a community becomes more desirable to the 25 target population for whatever reason, then we could go

1 ahead -- we can market their property at any time. And 2 then if there is interest, then we can trigger all of the 3 HUD documents and then start moving people into those 4 properties if they want to.

5 So we try to interject some element of tenant
6 choice into what is otherwise a pretty rigid program
7 design from HUD, being a project-based program. And I
8 think that, you know, a lot of other states kind of sat 9 down with their Health and Human Services partners and 10 designed, you know, the perfect property, you know.

11 It would have to be basically brand new and 12 they only wanted units that had already had roll-in 13 showers and grab bars and you know, great accessibility 14 and you know, great properties. But they were still 15 making -- they were preempting choice because that kind of 16 constricts the number of properties that are available to 17 families.

18 And we're serving not just people with physical 19 disabilities who may use a wheelchair, but our target 20 population also includes individuals who have a severe 21 mental illness, youth who are aging out of foster care.
22 They could have a wide variety of disability types. And 23 so you know, we didn't want to just recruit this, you 24 know, specific property type.

25 So you know, I think the Texas program design,

1 you know, really puts housing choice on the forefront.
2 And in those other states that have tried to, you know, 3 pick their idea of the perfect property, you know, they're 4 leading up at about the same rate that we are.

5 So I'm not necessarily seeing that there's 6 efficacy in us getting in the way of housing choice even 7 if it is a good intention of trying to design and recruit 8 what we think is the most perfect property.

9 MR. GOODWIN: That's a good direction. Having 10 worked in housing for a bit -- and this is not meant with 11 disrespect, but when we went to the first 504 and 12 everybody was afraid of 504, there is not a wheelchair 13 brigade that's going to come rolling down the street and 14 overrun your property. You're going to be lucky to 15 fill -- you know, so what you've got to do is have a unit 16 available that if it isn't it's easily convertible.

17 And over 50 percent of your persons with 18 disabilities are not persons with wheelchair requirements.
19 You've got visual, you've got hearing, you've got the 20 mental disabilities and things like that. And you don't 21 need a lot of special stuff. So that approach of saying, 22 Hey, you know, we can find a unit. We just need to get 23 the people in it.

24 MR. DURAN: Yes.

25 MR. GOODWIN: That's an excellent --

1 MR. DURAN: Cast as wide a net as possible and 2 let people decide for themselves.

3 MR. GOODWIN: Yeah.

4 MR. IRVINE: One disclaimer, staff has 5 recommended and we have out for public comment a QAP that 6 does make participation in the 811 a threshold item.
7 There are, of course, different people who are entitled to 8 their different points of view, and, you know, the Board 9 ultimately will make its decision what to adopt in that 10 regard.

11 And then once the Board takes its action, it 12 goes over to the governor, and Governor Abbott, of course, 13 has the ability to approve, approve with changes, or 14 reject the QAP. So while we fully intend and hope and 15 plan that it will be a threshold item and that that will 16 be a permanent feature of it, it's not something we can 17 absolutely guarantee.

18 MR. DURAN: Yeah. And from a program manager
19 perspective, I'm excited about that possibility of it 20 being a threshold because that would bring in a wider 21 variety of properties.

22 MR. IRVINE: A huge number.

23 MR. DURAN: You know, because not all of our 24 multifamily programs are -- you know, fall under the QAP.
25 A lot of them follow under the larger multifamily I guess

1 umbrella you could maybe call it. So yeah.

2 As far as the property recruitment goes, we 3 could really bring in a lot more properties each year.

4 MR. IRVINE: And we've also had some pushback
5 and concern from private sector lenders that are 6 participating in the layering of our financing structures, 7 and we've provided them with some comfort that the 811
8 program does not mess up their position. If anything, it 9 enhances it.

10 MR. DURAN: Yeah. So I really think that -- I 11 thank Megan Sylvester, our Federal Compliance Counsel, on, 12 you know, helping me understand, you know, from a lending 13 perspective some of the concerns that the lenders have 14 been having and really helping us have that conversation.
15 And it is just about information.

16 It hasn't been about any kind of -- I wouldn't 17 necessarily say like a material objection to the program 18 or anything, little fatal flaws or anything like that.
19 It's just been about understanding. And once we have 20 those conversations and once we provide some clarity, then 21 everyone that we've spoken with has been fine with it once 22 we talk and just help everybody understand how the program 23 works.

24 MR. IRVINE: Cool. David, you want to talk 25 about bond programs?

1 MR. DANENFELZER: Sure. I'm David Danenfelzer,
2 the Senior Director of Development Finance at Texas State 3 Affordable, and it's nice to be back. I see a lot of 4 familiar faces. I haven't been to one of these meetings
5 in a while, and I still get all the emails. So thank you
6 for keeping me in the loop, Terri.

7 Yeah, we were just asked to go ahead and give a 8 brief presentation and talk about our bond programs. In 9 particular, I'm going to focus in on the one I operate, 10 which is our Private Activity Bond and Tax-Exempt Bond 11 Programs.

12 I think most of you know Texas State Affordable 13 is a statewide nonprofit housing finance corporation. We 14 get our authority to issue bonds through state statute.
15 And since 1999, when we became a separate entity of the 16 state completely, for multifamily housing we've issued
17 over $700 million in bonds for multifamily housing. It 18 totals about 15,000 units for acquisition rehab projects 19 and another $80 million for new construction projects.

20 We really act very similar to any local housing 21 finance corporation in the state of Texas. We have all 22 the powers of a local housing finance corporation and 23 operate as such, but we do have some unique language 24 within our statute that was really the reason we were set 25 off as a secondary statewide housing bond issuer, TDHCA

1 being the primary housing bond issuer in Texas.

2           And the legislature at the time wanted to see 3 if there was a way to target those housing needs which 4 were not being met by most local housing issuers. And 5 that's not to say that the local housing issuers aren't 6 meeting needs. They certainly are, but the most common 7 properties that we see over the years is really that more 8 than 90 percent of the housing bonds that are issued are 9 in the four largest metro areas of the state. They're in 10 the Dallas-Fort Worth, the Houston, Austin, and San 11 Antonio metros.

12           And then of that over 90 percent, most of those 13 are for new construction. About 73 percent is that new 14 construction, and the rest is for acquisition rehab. So 15 one of the things that we've done and how our Board has 16 defined targeted housing needs is to look at those things 17 that are not being done.

18           And we do look at acquisition rehabilitations
19 of at-risk properties. That's one of our primary goals, 20 but we also try to look at properties in smaller urban 21 markets and rural markets. We try to look at senior and 22 service-enriched housing developments. And the last of 23 our four primary housing targets is housing in areas with 24 disaster declarations.

25           The last one we don't do very much of, I'll

1 admit. Primarily we leave that open-ended because 2 disasters are very fluid, and it's often very hard for a 3 community to react as quickly as they need to to really 4 get a bond project on the ground. But we do leave that 5 open, because we do see that it is a critical need, 6 particularly in areas where very large disasters happen.

7 We've looked at a number of deals recently in 8 the Dallas area from last Christmas. There were several 9 tornadoes that have touched down in particularly in the 10 Rowlett area. And there's a number of developers looking 11 to target that area right now, and we're trying to work 12 with them.

13 But for this presentation I'm actually going to 14 try to focus in on the senior and service-enriched housing 15 developments that we try to target. And you know, we 16 don't have a way to simply go out and pick a developer and 17 say we are going to develop this type of housing. We are 18 limited on the way we have to do that through both federal 19 and state statute, and so we do have to have developers 20 come in and we have to create incentives for that.

21 One of the ways we do that is that we get 10 22 percent of the state's allocation every year for 23 residential rental bonds. That equates to around $65
24 million for this year and it'll probably be a little bit 25 more next year. And we target at least 20 percent of

1 that. We hold it in reserve specifically for service-
2 enriched housing and rural housing projects. We also then 3 provide scoring incentives for those types of projects.

4 And our service-enriched housing in particular 5 was one of the things that, early on when the HHSCC was 6 created, there was a comment by that group. One of the 7 first biennial recommendations of this group was to create 8 more focused scoring, and we went ahead and took that 9 recommendation and added that into our policies. And 10 we've kind of tried to tweak that over time because 11 initially it didn't have much impact, but we are starting 12 to see some impact.

13 We've continued to narrow it and incentivize it 14 more. And in the last couple of years we've actually had 15 now three applications that are targeting at least 16 households at 30 percent and below. It's not 100 percent 17 of the units, but our scoring requires initial scoring is 18 5 percent of the units set aside for 30 percent and below, 19 and we've gotten that minimum at this point under three 20 recent projects.

21 And we're kind of excited about that that we're 22 finally starting to see some real progress on that. I 23 think, as any of you know who operate federal grant or 24 funding programs, finding that right mix and balance of 25 scoring to incentivize the things that you want to get

1 done is tough, because there's a lot of things we want to 2 get done.

3           You know, I will say I think one of the things 4 we gave up in the most recent couple of policies was we 5 gave less importance on green building and environmentally 6 sound building. But we also feel that a lot of the basic 7 building standards now have improved so much that we're 8 actually reaching a lot of really good quality 9 construction anyways without having to sacrifice these 10 other -- I hate to use the word "sacrifice," but to offset 11 green building with out losing out on the supportive 12 housing because we do think service-enriched and 13 supportive housing is critical.

14           The last thing I wanted to kind of touch on, 15 you know -- and I'll talk a little bit more about the 16 three projects. But as we look at projects each year and 17 we try to figure out how to manage these targets, the 30
18 percent housing, up to 30 percent AMI limit is, you know, 19 the simplest way we can target that housing. We do 20 require there also be services in those projects, but when 21 we look at -- but the easiest was to track it is simply 22 stating 30 percent.

23           But one of the things that we find when we look 24 at that is the cash flow that's available to a property to 25 repay debt -- and bonds are debt -- really gets

1 restricted. In fact, most 30 percent units don't pay for 2 themselves. They will not support any form of debt, and 3 in many case, they need to have additional subsidy simply 4 for operating.

5 On larger projects, like Gateway Northwest, 6 which was a 2013 award we did up in Georgetown, there is 7 going to be nine units there of extremely low income 8 housing. But we did have a very motivated builder and 9 developer who also will receive some Section 8 rental 10 vouchers for that property and be able to subsidize those 11 rents that way.

12 The two most recent ones we've had is an aq/
13 rehab project up in Dallas. It's a portfolio project.
14 There's two 100-unit projects. They're committing a total 15 of 11 units between the two different properties, six in 16 one, five in the other. And we're excited to work with 17 this particular development, developer. They're out of 18 Denver, the Steele Properties.

19 But they've not only chosen to do this set-20 aside, but they've been pretty creative in how they're 21 financing and structuring their deals. They have another 22 project which we're still in the early stages and we've 23 induced at our last board meeting, which is Brook Manor, 24 which is only 50 units and it's in West Columbia. So it 25 meets our sort of small urban market area target as well

1 as meeting the service-enriched housing.

2 But one of the things to remember is, you know,
3 bonds are expensive, and it's not really the bonds. It's 4 actually the lawyers and the financial advisers or as we 5 have to call them today municipal advisers. And a typical 6 project really, you know, typical bond fees for bond 7 counsel are between 75 and $100,000. The municipal 8 adviser fees are around $40,000 on a project. There's a 9 whole bunch of other fees for trustees and for other 10 parties and legal fees.

11 But one of the things that traps us in the bond 12 world, particularly for these smaller projects, is federal 13 rules say that only 2 percent of your bond proceeds can be 14 used to pay those types of expenses. So in this 15 particular project for Brook Manor, they are issuing about 16 $3 million, which means they only have $60,000 to pay for 17 bond counsel, trustee fees, all these other fees, but we 18 know that the bond counsel fees alone on that project will 19 be around $65,000.

20 So finding an additional subsidy that can cover 21 those costs -- the cost of financing for bonds is really 22 critical, particularly for 30 percent and below or 23 service-enriched housing. Finding a way to, you know, 24 take advantage when you can of higher tax credit pricing 25 which we have right now, it certainly is helping the

1 projects we're looking at. But a subsidy source that 2 would fulfill that -- and actually CSH has an excellent 3 paper, a white paper on the use of bonds for supportive
4 housing.

5 And their primary thing that they look to are 6 projects where either the state or the local housing 7 issuer was actually what's considered a direct issuer,
8 meaning they actually are to a certain extent guaranteeing 9 funding the bonds versus in Texas where we're 10 traditionally local housing finance corporations and in 11 fact, state agencies and us, we're only allowed to really 12 be conduit issuers, meaning we just are passthrough for an 13 investor.

14 And so bringing down those legal fees and costs 15 are very hard for us to do directly, but it's not 16 impossible. And we're looking for ways to fund-raise for 17 that and see if we can -- and provide a fund for that.
18 But at the same time any other sources out there that can 19 buy down those costs of issuance for bonds or even allow 20 us to swap out bonds for lower cost financing or 21 subsidized financing in the future would be great, because 22 we can issue bonds on a short-term basis which gives us
23 access to the tax credits and then replace those bonds 24 with lower cost funding.

25 Because we have actually in the Georgetown

1 project -- that was one of the reasons we were able to get 2 those 30 percent units, because the bonds were only issued
3 for a 2-1/2-year period and repaid with very a low cost 4 FHA permanent mortgage.

5 I'll kind of leave it at there. I can talk all 6 day about bonds. It's what they pay me for.

8 MR. DANENFELZER: Yeah, Michael?

9 MR. GOODWIN: Dumb question of the morning, why 10 does the bond counsel cost so much?

11 MR. DANENFELZER: You know, yeah, if I knew why 12 lawyers were paid so well. No, you know, I think the 13 biggest issue is that first of all, you're dealing with 14 the IRS as well as the Securities & Exchange Commission.
15 And there is an enormous amount of complexity in those 16 rules that the bond counsels and tax counsels need to 17 ensure the legal documents are sound.

18 And you know, when I look at our bond counsel, 19 one of the things we often hear is that they're very 20 expensive, but when we look at what they actually -- most 21 of the time their fees are not based generally on an 22 hourly basis but on a bond amount basis. So it can be 23 really difficult for them to make as much money as they 24 would in the private sector doing private bonds, and 25 that's what I mean is doing larger scale bonds.

1           You know, if a bond lawyer is doing a billion-
2 dollar deal for TxDOT and helping them issue bonds, 3 they're making far more on a bond -- on a dollar-for-4 dollar basis, but on a per-bond basis they're making far 5 less. On a housing deal, the per-bond basis is much
6 higher because it's much smaller. We're not issuing a 7 billion dollars in housing bonds; we're doing $3 million 8 or $10 million or $20 million.

9           But their fees are still -- they're doing the 10 same amount of work and they're getting paid far less on 11 that per-bond amount, but it also means it's a bigger 12 portion of the deal that we have.

13           And yeah, again, the IRS and the SEC do not 14 make it easy on us.

15           MR. GOODWIN: I was going to say you're going 16 to make a great PR guy for the bond --

17           MR. IRVINE: I could actually --

18           MR. DANENFELZER: Well, if it -- yeah.

19           MR. GOODWIN: Because I'm on the receiving end 20 of those bonds, okay.

21           MR. DANENFELZER: Right.

22           MR. GOODWIN: And you talked about three deals 23 you're doing with the same company. Why would there be 24 any difference in the bond documents between those three 25 deals and so why should the bond attorney charge you three

1 times, if you will, that amount of money when all they're 2 doing is copying the ones they did and changing the name?

3 MR. DANENFELZER: Well --

4 MR. IRVINE: There's a guy that practices for 5 years in our firm that issues bond opinions. It is 6 qualitatively quite different from a typical hourly legal 7 advice practice, so even an opinions practice. You know, 8 get an opinion and if it's a well-written opinion, 9 somewhere in there it's going to say this is not a 10 guaranty.

11 But I think that in the bond world, if you're 12 not a Red Book-approved bond counsel, the issuer will not 13 accept your opinion. So first of all, it's a very limited 14 and frankly specialized group of firms that write opinions
15 that are accepted. Malpractice insurers do look at bond 16 opinions quite differently from the way that they look at 17 just general legal practice opinions.

18 And frankly, you know, a bond counsel is 19 incurring financial -- I won't say direct liability or 20 responsibility but something that's much more akin to 21 responsibility that aggregates as they approve and issue
22 their opinions on more and more bonds. And you know, 23 frankly, it's a risk opinion.

24 MR. DANENFELZER: Yeah. And you know, to your 25 point of like doing the same deal over and over again, you

1 know, I would love to do the same deal over and over 2 again, but irregardless there is always a new party. And 3 I often tell people my job is really not to be an expert 4 in bonds; it's in herding cats, because --

5 (General laughter.)

6 MR. DANENFELZER: -- literally, you change out
7 one party -- it could be the tax credit syndicator's
8 different on one deal from the last one. And all of a 9 sudden the lawyers for the tax credit syndicator have a 10 whole different way of wanting to write different phrases 11 and different things in a bond document than the previous.

12 And so we rarely do more than two deals that 13 look even remotely close to one another. We used to 14 always talk when I was at the Department and worked 15 with -- you know, like oh, this is like a typical bond 16 deal. Well, I've really decided that we were fooling 17 ourselves.

18 There is no such thing as a typical bond deal.
19 There's always a change. The markets always change. The 20 investors always want something different. And so you 21 know, even in this particular case where we are literally 22 doing deals within a couple of months of the other, there 23 are some significant changes in the deal because of 24 location, because the investors will pay more in the 25 Dallas-Fort Worth area than they will in West Columbia,

1 because, you know, there's slightly more risk in West
2 Columbia because it's considered a small urban market or 3 rural area.

4 And so all of a sudden, you know, different 5 things come into play, and it creates ripples throughout 6 the documents. And we really do depend on our bond 7 lawyers to make sure that those ripples don't end up 8 putting us as an issuer at liability for those bonds but 9 then also to make sure they are still meeting all of the 10 federal and state rules that need to be met.

11 And I sit on the Tax-Exempt Bond Advisory Board 12 for the IRS right now. And yeah, trust me, I'm advocating 13 to simplify it as much as possible, but now that I'm 14 actually able to advocate for it directly with the IRS, 15 it's not as -- that's definitely, you know, one of those I 16 thought it would be greener, but boy, it's not.

17 (General laughter.)

18 MR. DANENFELZER: Well, if there's no more 19 questions, I'll just -- I'll be here.

20 VOICE: Thank you.

21 MR. IRVINE: Okay, coming down the home
22 stretch, Monthly Notifications and Funding Opportunities.
23 I believe there's a --

24 MS. RICHARD: Yeah, I was -- I wanted to -- I 25 forgot to let everybody know that you're supposed to sign

1 in via this handy dandy little --

2 MS. BARNARD: Oh, yes. I'm sorry. I failed.

3 MS. RICHARD: Yeah. So these next two items
4 I'll just pass it around if you guys will -- if you 5 haven't done it already sign into their --

6 MS. BARNARD: So what she's passing around is 7 an iPad that the Texas Department of Agriculture uses to 8 track all visitors and have a record of everyone who's 9 visited the Agency. So we ask that everyone sign in. Is 10 that what you're --

11 MS. RICHARD: Thank you.

12 MS. BARNARD: That's what it is?

13 MS. RICHARD: Yes.

14 MS. BARNARD: Okay.

15 MS. RICHARD: That is what it is. It didn't 16 have to be escorted. You just have to use the --

17 MS. BARNARD: Yes.

18 MS. RICHARD: -- iPad.

19 MR. SANTOS: Unless they signed in in the front 20 desk.

22 MR. GOODWIN: Yeah, we signed in at the front
23 desk.

24 MS. BARNARD: Did you sign in at the front? If 25 you signed in at the front desk, you don't need to repeat.

1 MS. RICHARD: Okay.

2 MS. BARNARD: But if you skipped that step --

3 MR. GOODWIN: Yeah, we had that piece of paper 4 thing down there.

5 MR. IRVINE: So even state employees have to 6 sign in?

9 MS. BARNARD: I'm sorry.

10 MS. RICHARD: Okay, so --

11 (Pause.)

12 MS. BARNARD: I think they'll let me know, but 13 I'm not sure.

14 MS. RICHARD: I just wanted on this item to get 15 some input from council members. I wanted to see how many 16 of you have signed up for those monthly notifications and 17 funding opportunities that I send out?

18 (A show of hands.)

19 MS. RICHARD: Okay, so a few of your do. What 20 I was wanting to get some feedback on is are they 21 valuable, are you using them, what could I do to improve 22 them? You know, is it something we need to continue to 23 do?

24 It does require -- in the statute, it does 25 require us to look for funding opportunities for service-

1 enriched housing. So I just wanted to take some time to 2 kind of revisit that process and see if that's something 3 that you guys have an ideas on how to improve those.

4 MR. GOODWIN: I personally have not used one of 5 them, but I send them to various people when I get them 6 based on what the subjects are --

7 MS. RICHARD: Okay.

8 MR. GOODWIN: -- where they come from. And you 9 know, it's kind of like pumping the shotgun. If you get 10 one BB and it hits the bird, then you're going to get the 11 bird.

12 MS. RICHARD: Okay.

13 MR. GOODWIN: And by them being blasted out, at 14 least they're out there.

15 MS. RICHARD: Okay. Well, that's good to hear.

16 MR. DANENFELZER: Yeah. And I would say, I
17 mean, just personally I know we internally talk about it 18 at our office, but I think we can do a better job sending 19 you ideas for that as well --

20 MS. RICHARD: Right.

21 MR. DANENFELZER: -- so that it's not as -- you 22 know, you're not the only one looking for those 23 opportunities. And we are on a number of listservs, and I 24 think we can do a better job of getting those ideas to 25 you.

1 MS. RICHARD: Thank you, David, because that 2 was one thing I was going to bring up. I hope that other 3 state agencies could do the same thing. I do try to go
4 find them like from HHSCC or from DAD. I do try to do
5 that, but it would be great if people could send me things 6 that I could include in those notifications.

7 I've sort of taken the liberty of trying to 8 take on just notifications not necessarily about funding 9 but opportunities to give public comments, you know, where 10 there's public hearings. One thing I wanted to run by 11 you, you know, the biennial plan that we just went through 12 completion of, one thing that Tim commented on is it's 13 just a lot of -- it was a lot of information.

14 I mean I did a literature review, and I think I 15 had five pages of sources. And so one suggestion and it 16 might not have to be through that same process, but would 17 you all like to see some of the research and some of the 18 articles and some of the things that I look at all the 19 time on a more ongoing basis rather than every two years, 20 you know, getting a lot of articles that we expect you to 21 read and go through?

22 And I could one thought was to maybe kind of do 23 it through this notification process that I'm already 24 doing where I could find the articles and just send links
25 or is it something different? I could send them maybe --

1 maybe every council meeting we could talk about some. I'm 2 open to --

3 MR. IRVINE: I think it's good to have a one-
4 source sort of clearinghouse for information, studies, 5 comment periods, NOFAs, all that stuff.

6 MR. GOODWIN: It's the same with the funding
7 notifications. You know, I send them to my competitors, 8 if you will, but if I know somebody's deep into affordable 9 housing and there's one of those, I send it to them.

10 MS. RICHARD: Okay.

11 MR. GOODWIN: You know, we do some of that, but 12 it's not all we do, and the more people out there that get 13 them, the more program's going to do.

14 MS. RICHARD: Okay, that's good to hear. Any 15 other thoughts, ideas?

16 Karen, David, on the phone, do y'all have any 17 ideas? Do you use those?

18 MR. RAMOS: I have.

19 MS. HOLT: Terri, this is Karen.

20 MR. RAMOS: I have.

21 MS. RICHARD: Okay.

22 MR. RAMOS: This is David.

23 MS. RICHARD: Great.

24 MS. HOLT: Yeah, I forward them quite 25 frequently to different folks.

1 MS. RICHARD: Okay. Great. Well, that's 2 really great feedback. I really appreciate that.

3 Those of you who haven't signed up for them, if 4 you just go to our Services and Programs website and it 5 says TDHCA supported councils, that's where this council's 6 website is. And on the left-hand side, it prompts you to 7 sign up for those.

8 And so I will go ahead and include
9 notifications from state agencies, the ones that I, you 10 know, can find or that I get from council members. And 11 then I'll start including some of the articles. I think 12 we just mentioned something that you've just -- David, you 13 just mentioned one that CSH just came out with. And so 14 I'll start including those.

15 And I try to do those the first part of the 16 month sometimes depending on workload. I didn't do it 17 this time because I wanted to see -- this month yet -- 18 because I wanted to see what your thoughts are. But 19 that's super helpful. I appreciate the feedback. I 20 really appreciate the feedback on that. Okay.

21 MR. IRVINE: My turn?

22 MS. RICHARD: Your turn.

23 MR. IRVINE: All right. This is a Discussion
24 of 4% and 10% reductions in State General Revenue. And I
25 guess what I would say is first of all, I do notice -- I

1 watch pretty much every day where West Texas Intermediate 2 is. And it seems to be up nudging 50 right now, which is 3 good.

4 West Texas Intermediate is the price per barrel
5 for oil that is generated in this state. And that has a 6 very strong correlation to tax revenues. And the 7 Comptroller's revenue estimates will be based on what they 8 foresee coming into the tax coffers. So you know, I think 9 that some firming in oil prices is a really hopeful thing.

10 But I think that the Governor and the LBB, when 11 they directed us to model these reductions, you know, 12 they're just exercising prudence. They're not saying 13 we're going to do it, but what they're saying is if we 14 don't see some strengthening in the things that lead to 15 tax revenues, then we may need to be tightening our belts 16 to deal with reduced revenues.

17 You know, it's one of those things where you 18 really need to teach the economy as a whole carefully and 19 listen to the Controller's periodic assessments.

20 When we went through this theoretical, at least 21 for now, tightening exercise, I think that you need to 22 understand that it's none of it is stuff we want to do.
23 It's stuff though that if, God forbid, the revenues
24 weren't there, we would be required to do it. We took a 25 process where we prioritized as much as possible

1 preserving direct programmatic assistance.

2 The TDHCA revenue streams are generally heavily 3 dependent on federal programs and fees. But we do have 4 several programs, including those funded through our 5 Housing Trust Fund, those funded through our Homeless
6 Housing Services Program, that are GR funded.

7 And we really are loath to cut those critical 8 direct services. Those are some of the most flexible 9 programs we run, things like the Amy Young Barrier Removal 10 Program, the Bootstrap Program, then of course the eight 11 large cities and their approaches to addressing the issues 12 of homelessness.

13 We have some other smaller uses that are funded 14 through GR. The support for this Council is one of those 15 things. We really think that, for example, the use of 16 some of that GR for the Academy has been a good 17 investment.

18 And we're really hopeful that we can continue 19 that, but if it comes to a prioritization between cutting 20 direct services and pulling back on some of these other 21 things, then we want to preserve direct services. So it's 22 not a happy thought, it's not a happy discussion, but it's 23 about a priorities.

24 There are things that we always do to keep our 25 administrative overhead as tightly managed as possible. I

1 talked earlier about when we stand up a program, we try to 2 make sure that it's, you know, a carefully selected menu
3 item, and we try not to create a lot of little boutique
4 programs that would proliferate staff and proliferate 5 administrative costs. We really try to keep things as 6 focused as possible.

7 One of our large programs we have not been 8 taking administrative funds on at all, but we do incur 9 administrative costs. We are now to the point where we 10 were seeking to have a modicum of administrative costs for 11 the administration of the Homeless Housing Services 12 Program. We basically even cut that ask in half as part 13 of our proposed reductions.

14 So you know, apologies. Don't take any of it 15 as sentiments against any of the great work that is 16 supported through our GR. It's just when the boss says, 17 Tell me how you tighten your belt if you have to, then you 18 got to tell him how you would. So that's what we've done.

19 MR. WILT: I don't know if it's a question or a 20 comment, but I was at a Communications Conference last 21 week that LBJ school puts on, and there were a lot of Tim 22 Irvines there, or maybe people that report to Tim Irvine.

23 MR. IRVINE: Better than.

24 MR. WILT: Like Brooke.

25 (General laughter.)

1 MR. WILT: And there was the LBB Director, and 2 she said she had talked to some agencies. They have gone
3 through this modeling exercise. And she was surprised 4 that none of the agencies that she had talked has 5 contemplated cuts to their procurement contracts, so all 6 the third-party vendors that agencies are working with, 7 that that was never contemplated and that that was 8 something that really surprised her.

9 MR. IRVINE: Well, with regard to procurement 10 contracts, the overwhelming preponderance of our 11 procurement contracts are not funded through GR. So even 12 if we were to cut those things, it would be impacting 13 predominantly our fee balances.

14 So to the extent that we use any GR for 15 procured activity, you know, we think that we do a really 16 efficient job. We try to use things like 17 intergovernmental contracts and things of that sort as 18 ways to keep costs down, but, yeah, we scrub our 19 procurements pretty hard.

20 Brooke, you want to comment on that?

21 MS. BOSTON: No, I just -- we're not an agency
22 that does a lot of outsourced procurement in that vein. I
23 mean it's pretty few and far between. Like probably one 24 of the few examples is, you know, right now we have an 25 outsourced contract for the Homeless Use Study with one of

1 the universities, and that was procurement.

2 But I mean that kind of stuff is pretty
3 uncommon in TDHCA, so I could see some of the agencies -- 4 you're right -- I could see why Ursula would say that, but 5 I don't think we're one of the ones where that would be 6 the place for us to find savings.

7 MR. WILT: Sure.

8 MR. IRVINE: Yeah. We have historically done
9 some procurements for large studies, but I think that 10 we've tried to build into our staff a little bit more 11 capacity to do that sort of analysis.

12 You know one of the big challenges of fair
13 housing is in connection with your consolidated plan 14 historically you've had to go through the Analysis of 15 Impediments to Fair Housing Choice, and that's been very 16 expensive procurement contracts.

17 We ultimately found that, you know, it was 18 lovely to have supported the private sector, but we ended 19 up having to do the majority of the work ourselves just 20 because we're so much more immersed in it and sensitive to 21 it and you know, knowledgeable about it.

22 So you know, we're really trying to get away 23 from a lot of those procured study-type activities.

24 MR. GOODWIN: I'll make a comment. I've been 25 surprised, pleased, whatever you want to say, at the level

1 of the staff that has supported this group has done in-2 house. And going back to the 811, all of that that has 3 gone on, that in-house staff has probably cost the outside 4 procurement people a lot of money because they've done
5 yeoman tasks doing research and publication and things --

6 MR. IRVINE: Yeah, we've got some --

7 MR. GOODWIN: -- and quality has been --

8 MR. IRVINE: -- some real quality on our team.
9 And frankly, it's tremendously efficient. I mean, you 10 know, I think for Terri, my observation is that in large 11 part this Council is a labor of love. It's something 12 she's really personally committed to, and she really 13 immerses herself in it and puts in a lot of time and 14 effort, but she does an awful lot of essential work for 15 the Agency that, you know, I hear you helping people on 16 the phone and handling individual assistance requests.

17 MS. RICHARD: I enjoy it.

18 MR. IRVINE: Those guys, you know, they spend a 19 lot of interacting with us, but they also spend a lot of 20 time running a program. But thanks.

21 MS. RICHARD: Thank you.

22 Do we have any public comment? Anybody?

23 Karen, David, any --

24 MR. IRVINE: I don't think they heard you.

25 MR. RAMOS: No, I'm okay.

1 MS. RICHARD: Okay.

2 MR. IRVINE: Since we're not officially 3 convened, we don't need to adjourn.

4 (General laughter.)

5 MS. RICHARD: I did have the next meeting
6 January 11 on the calendar. January 11.

7 MR. IRVINE: Thank you. We will then be in the 8 next legislative session.

9 MS. RICHARD: Yes. Thank you. Thanks, David.
10 Thanks, Karen.

11 (Whereupon, at 11:19 a.m., the board meeting 12 was concluded.)
